

EXHIBIT A

law and the Rules of Executive Clemency give Defendants unfettered discretion to grant or deny restoration of the right to vote to persons with felony convictions. This declaratory judgment applies only to the right to vote, not any other civil right. It also does not apply to any other type of executive clemency in Florida.

2. No person in the State of Florida with a prior felony conviction may be required to apply to Defendants or any other government official, agency, and/or body for the restoration of the right to vote. The right to vote in Florida shall be restored to all persons with felony convictions immediately upon the completion of any uniform, objective, neutral pre-restoration waiting period of a specified duration of time set forth in Florida state law and/or the Rules of Executive Clemency, if any such waiting period exists. Such restoration shall be automatic upon the expiration of the waiting period, in that Defendants shall have no authority to grant or deny applications for restoration of civil rights.
3. This injunction applies only to the right to vote, not any other civil right, and shall not cause the restoration of any other civil right. Nor shall this Order have any effect on any other type of executive clemency in Florida.
4. Nothing in this Order granting declaratory and injunctive relief against Defendants shall be construed to preclude or limit future modification or elimination of the pre-restoration waiting period(s) by any lawful means, including but not limited to constitutional amendment, legislation, or Board rulemaking, or to preclude Ballot Question Number 4 from taking effect, if approved in the November 6, 2018 election.¹
